Field hockey may not rank as one of the major sports in the United States, but it has surprisingly extensive support in many countries throughout the world and claims modest, but steadily increasing, representation in the albums of sports philatelists.

In its present form the game has spread from England, where it was organized and codified through clubs and associations formed in the second half of the lgth century. In more primitive fashion the history of hockey can be traced back to the ancient Greeks and Egyptians, four thousand years ago. Stained glass windows in the ancient English cathe drals of Canterbury and Gloucester indicate that some form of hockey was known in the l3th and l4th centuries; it was one of the sports which Edward III prohibited as distracting from the national practice of archery. Hurling in Ireland and shinty in Scotland have even longer histories and must have influenced the development of the hockey game in England, perhaps through bandy, another ball and stick game to which one finds reference in Shakespeare's "Romeo and Juliet".

A hurler in action--with his stick upraised above his shoulder, not allowed in field hockey--was depicted on the Irish stamp (90), typographed in appropriate green at the Government Frinting Works in Dublin and issued in July, 1934, to celebrate the Jubilee of the Gaelic Athletic Association. Another echo of the earlier forerunners of modern field hockey was provided by Ethiopia in 1962 (379), when the fifteen cent denomination of the country's first sports issue was devoted to an illustration of "Ganna" which is officially described in the Ministry of Posts leaflet as "Ethiopian Hockey". The text adds that "it is dangerous to play this game in that traditionally the players are $1 l l$ protected against the hard wooden ball which may hurt the legs or the heads of the opposite players"! The stamp, printed in cream-rose and brown, was designed by an Ethiopian artist, han, and produced by the Artia Works in Prague, Czechoslovakia.

Sereke Yemane Ber-

. The first country to issue a stamp with a "proper" hockey theme was Japan in 1951 (548), on the occasion of the Sixth National Athletic Meeting at Hiroshima during october that year. The pair of commemoratives then released, printed alternately in pairs throughout the sheet, illustrated putting the shot and hockey in orange-brown and gray-blue respectively. Field hockey was exemplified by a good action picture of a player on the run with the ball ahead of his stick.

The game is now a mafor sport in Japanese universities. havine spread rapidly after its introduction some sixty years ago by an Irish player, Rev. Canon William Grey, who taught at Keio University and organized the first hockey club there early this century.

One may recall that, when the 1932 Olympic Games were held at Los Angeles, the United States participated in the hockey section for the first time, being defeated 9-2 by Ja-pan--as well as suffering a $24-1$ rout at the hands of India. U. S. teams also played at the 1936, 1948, and 1956 Olympics, occupying bottom place in the rankings each time. In 1964 the country's team was beaten by Canada for the American continent representation at Tokyo.

Field hockey began in Britain and it was through the British armed forces and administrative services that the game was introduced to India and passed on to other parts of Asia, now the world stronghold of the sport. The Indians quickly found it to their liking; they won the Olympic title on their first appearance in 1932 and held it until l960, when Pakistan won a l-0 victory at Rome. In Tokyo the position was reversed by the same narrow margin.

The Indian postal authorities have not yet accorded philatelic recognition to their hockey heroes, but Pakistan included hockey as one of the four games featured in a striking quartet of symbolic sports designs issued in August, 1962, as publicity for its national sports development program. The thirteen paisa denomination (163) in green and black presented a splendid composition of two hockey sticks, ball, goal posts, net, and diagram of the field layout, flarked by the five Olympic rings and an Olympic gold medal. Hockey made another appearance on a Pakistani stamp three months later (168), one of the same face value and color in the set released in connection with the Pakistan International Industries Fair. Among the small industries depicted, sports goods were exemplified with a collection of equipement which included a hockey stick.

An incident from the 1956 0lympic hockey final at Melbourne, when India beat Pakistan $1-0$, provided the subject for one of the many colorful stamps with which the Dominican Republic paid tribute to Olympic victors while simultaneously levying tribute on sports philatelists. This was the sixteen-cent airmail (Cl07) released on October 30, 1958 , also in a miniature sheet with two companion values. Both stamps and sheet were re-issued the following April with International Geophysical Year overprint and semi-postal surcharge (SCl4).

Likewise with an eye mainly on philatelic revenue, the Portuguese authorities produced in 1962 sets of six multicolored diamond-shaped sports designes for each of their eight overseas territories. These included hockey subjects for Macao (394) and Mozambique (427), neither being noteworthy as strongholds of the game! (Editor's note: Close examination of the Mozambique item indicates that this stamp actually depicts hockey on roller skates and thus merits additional attention in a later paragraph of this article.)

With more justification, Indonesia issued during the summer of 1962 a total of twenty-four different stamps to publicize the Fourth Asian Games, held in Jakarta. The $4 R / 50$ s value (550), printed in green and red, showed three hockey players in action.

Hockey has spread from Australia and New Zealand to the Fiji Islands, where local enthusiasts usually play it barefooted. It was featured on the one shilling stamp (188) in the set of four issued in August, 1963, to commemorate the First South Pacific Games held at Suva, an important pioneer regional gathering that drew some six hundred participants from fourteen Pacific territories. All four were designed by Michael Goaman to include the Southern Cross constellation, symbolic palm tree and waves as well as the Queen's portrait and a central sports subject.

For the hockey stamp, photogravure-printed in red-brown, green, and black, the artist was supplied with a photograph taken in Fiji by Mr. Rob Nright of the Public Relations Department in Suva. This showed two players, identified as Odhavji Bhai and M. M. Maharaj, engaged in a skirmish for the ball; but the right-hand player was used by the artist as a model for both figures on the stamp. The Secretary of the British Hockey Board subsequently wrote to "Gibbons Stamp Monthly" saying that, as a result of this treatment, the left-hand player on the stamp was shown holding his stock the wrong way round. Mr. Goaman replied that his wife, a hockey player herself, had posed as a model for his design; that she was left-handed; and that there were doubtless other players who held their sticks in this fashion--as indeed was later confirmed by another hockey-playing philatelist.

The only hockey player so far depicted individually in her own right on a stamp is Kate Rucnella (1910-43) on the lOpf +5 pf green and black value (Blo7) in the series which appeared in East Germany in September, 1963, to honor sportsmen and women who were victims of Hitler's concentrafor possession of the ball men's game.

tion camps. Sold at a fifty per cent premium in aid of a memorial fund, they were printed in pairs with se-tenant la bels illustrating the sports in which the various anti-Nazi martyrs were prominent. Thus Kate Tuchella's portrait was flanked by a picture of two women hockey players challenging c recognition to date of the wothis being the only philatelic -

The first European country to give hockey its postal "stamp of approval" was the Netherlands in 1956, on the l0ф + 5ф value (B299) in the 1956 Olympic Games semi-postal set. The premium was for the benefit of the national 0lympic committee organizing Dutch participation at Melbourne, but in the event the hockey team withdrew from the Games. The stamp, in gray and black, presented a silhouette of a hockey player in vigorous movement. Hockey was introduced into the Netherlands from England in the early 1890s and now ranks second only to football (soccer) as the major winter sport. (Editor's note: Much has been said and written about whether Netherlands #B299 depicts field hockey or ice hockey. I seem to recall, but could be wrong very easily, that one of our members has told me that the brochure from the Netherlands' postal administration at the time of issue clearly indicated that this item depicted ice hockey.)

The only other European hockey stamp came from diminutive and philatelically prolific San Marino in 1960, as the 15 lira emerald and lilac denomination (462) in a long series devoted to the Olympic Games of 1960.

Hockey was featured in the roll call of the Tokyo events by the inclusion of a picture of two players on the $5 y+5 y$ black-on-white stamp (B2O) in the fifth series of pre-Olympic diamond-shaped designs issued by Japan in November, 1963, but it does not seem to have been depicted on any other 1964 Olympic commemoratives.

Ice hockey is beyond the scope of this survey; it has gained far greater representation in the stamp album than field hockey. However, one may perhaps mention a variant of the latter that has been featured by several countries--hockey on roller skates. The 8th World Championship of Roller Skating Hockey was commemorated by the host nation, Portugal, with a pair of stamps (749-50), both in the same design, in 1952. The game was likewise illustrated on the one and two-peseta values (957, 962) of the attractive Spanish sports series of 1960. (Editor's note: Reference has been made previously to the fact that Mozambique #427 seems to depict the roller skating variant of field hockey.)

L. SLOGANS & CANCELS & METERS

"01ymp10 Games Stamps". Through the courtesy of the complier, S. Sugahara Yokohama of Tokyo, I have recently received a copy of his "Olympio Games Stamps". Some of you will recall the lovely calendar for late 1963 and 1964 in which Olympic stamps were reproduced in full color on every page. The calendar was presented with the compliments of the Taisho Marine and Fire Insurence Co., Itd., of Tokyo; the explanatory booklet was written by Atsush1 Sekimoto (SPI 176). This new book follows the same pattern of quality and is everything the calendar was, plus almost all the stamps issued in oommemoration of the Tokyo Olympic Games.

The new publication is cloth bound and consists of two hundred pages davoted almost entirely to illustrations of $01 y m p i o$ stamps and souvenir sheets. Generally the color reproduction is excellent and a fine glossy paper is used throughout. The minimal explanatory notes are in both Japanese and English. If there ever was a work of art and a complete bargain, this is 1 t.

You may obtain a copy by writing to the publisher, KK Ohuc Koron Jugyo Shuppan, 5th Floor Marunouchi Building, 2-2, Marunouchi, Chiyoda-ku, Tokyo, Japan. Enolose a cheok or money order; payment covers the cost of malling by sea (the book is well proteoted for shipment). The cost $1 s$ the biggest bargain of your sports colleoting life--a mere $3.00.

ATA's "Philatelic Nudes". The American Topical Assooiation has just published its Handbook No. 53, TPhilatelic Nudes", which should be of considerable interest to sports collectors because of the many nude classical sports figures on sports stamps. The compiler is Frank Putnam Deane II.

Paper bound, this publication 11 sts and desoribes some 1,800 stamps from 220 countries. A quick count indicates that eighty-five stamps are 1llustrated; of these thirty= one belong in the sports category. Speoial classification systems indioate whe ther the nude figure is in the main design, seoondary design, or border of the stamp and also the degree of nudity. Without too much digging, a sports collector can looate muoh valuable information on "nudes in sports".

The new publication is available from American Topical Association, 3306 N. 50th St., Milwaukee, wis. 53216. The introductory price is $$ 2.00$.

PHILATELIC MARKET REPORT

- Fred Farr

Tip of the month--Great Britain World Oup commemoratives. During the past year collectors in the British Isles have suddenly become enchanted with their own nation's stamps. The reason for this has been the new stamp issuance polioy of the British postal administration, which has wooed the British collector with frequent issues of colorful and attractively designed commemoratives. These stamps sell out quickiy, usually in a matter of just a few days so far as the high value denominations are concerned. Demand far out-paces supply and prices rise rapidly--often within a period of weeks after issue. This is a radical departure from previous circumstances and the sports philatelist must take this into account whenever the British Post Office Department issues stamps bearing a sports theme.

On June first Great Britain is issuing a set of three stamps to honor the World Cup championships, which will be played in England during the month of July, when some sixteen nations will compete for the Jules Rimet Cup. The face value of the set will be only $29 \phi$ and the set will be issued both with and without phosphor bands--total face value of $58 \phi$. I recommend that you buy these stamps in blocks of four, both with and without the phosphor bands. I also recommend that you purchase this set of first-day covers, including the official first-day cover. Remember that soccer is the major sport all over the world, so collectors everywhere will want these stamps. Remember, also, that vast quantities of these stamps will be used for postage in the British Isles and the mint stamps will be much scarcer than the used ones. Anyway, get these stamps NOW, while they are available at new issue prices, and you'll never regret it.

Great Britain 271-74. In 1948 Great Britain played host to the 14th Olympiad, held in London between July 29 th and August l4th. To honor this event the British government issued four dull and uninteresting designs, with a total of some 24,397,000 complete sets. The face value was approximately $23 \not \subset$ and the set was available for years for about $50 \not \subset$ retail. However, as British collectors suddenly turned to collecting their own nation's stamps with a vengeance, prices have firmed during the past year. British dealers are now advertising to buy this set for $65 \phi$ and you can be sure that their retail price will be $\$ 1.00$ or more. In addition, British dealers are rapidly cleaning out the American stamp market; so, if you want to buy this set at the current American retail price, you had better move fast-or you'll pay twice the current price. Incidentally, dealers in France and Germany already charge $\$ 1.00$ for this set, so you can see that it is on the way up.

Great Britain 338-40. In 1958 the British Empire and Commonwealth Games were held in Cardiff, Wales, and the British government issued again its usual dull and uninteresting series of stamps to commemorate this event. Once again the face value was $28 \not \subset$ and the total quantity issued was $9,870,000$ sets. This set has been available for $40 \phi$ on the American retail market, although wholesalers charge 35申. Until recently British dealers asked only $42 \phi$, but now they advertise to buy this set for $70 \phi$, mint or used! European dealers charge $\$ 1.00$, so you can bet that American dealers won't be able to offer this set for $40 \phi$ much longer. If you need this set, don't waste any time!

Gibraltar 136. In 1953 this colony issued a set of definitives and the $2 \frac{1}{2} d$ denomination depicted a sailboat in the bay at Gibraltar. Some $3,406,333$ stamps were sold before this set was replaced in 1960. "Scott" values this stamp at a mere loф, but dealers in Europe charge 60ф, up from $20 \notin$ just a few years ago. Do you see the handwriting on the wall? Buy this stamp while it is still available for just a few cents.

Jugoslavia 260-61. In 1949 Jugoslavia issued this set of two attractive stamps to honor the International Ski Championships at Planica. One stamp depicts the ski jump at Planica while the other denomination shows a ski jumper. Only 150,000 sets were issued, so this set has long since disappeared from wholesalers' stocks. American retailers ask $35 \not \subset$ for this set, although London dealers charge $70 \not \subset$ and dealers in Paris get $80 \notin$. This set was tipped in this column back in April of 1964 when the retail price was $25 \phi$ to $30 \%$. Anyway, this set should start moving upward soon toward the European quotation, so it won't hurt to check your collection and see if you need this set.

Jugoslavia 359-64. This set honors the l5th Olympiad, held in Helsinki, Finalnd, in the summer of 1952 . As they have done so many times in the past, the Jugoslavians used stylized drawings depicting athletes engaged in the various competitions of the Games. The lower four values were issued in a quantity of 300,000 stamps, but the fifty dinars denomination was issued in one-half that quantity and the top value (loo dinars) was released in the very small quantity of 60,000 copies. This means that only 60,000 sets were issued, which is extremely small for a European country, especially considering the demand for stamps with an Olympic theme. Still available on the American market for $$ 2.25 \mathrm{re}-$ tail, this set is priced at $$ 2.80$ in London and dealers in Paris charge $$ 6.001$ Considering the large number of concelled sets available, the mint sets are a rare bargain at today's retail price.

Jugoslavia 461-68. Here is another set with an Olympic Games theme, issued in honor of the l6th Olympiad, held in Melbourne, Australia, in 1956. This time the stamp designers made two errors; the fifty dinars denomination depicts women's waterball and the seventy dinars value shows table tennis, although neither sport was played at these Games. Once again, only a small quantity of sets was released; the total was 100,000 . American retailers charge $$ 3.00$ for this set, which is precisely equal to the current wholesale price! Dealers in London, however, ask $$ 5.00$ per set and Parisian dealers charge $$ 7.00$. How long do you think American retailers can sell their sets at wholesale prices?

Sites chosen for the 1972 Olympic Games. For those of you who missed this in the regular news outlets, the International Olympic Committee has awarded the lOth Winter Olympic Games to Sapporo, Japan, and the l9th Olympic Games to Munich, Germany.

Presumably one of the arguments in favor of Sapporo for the Winter Games was the fact that Sapporo would have been the host to the Winter Games in 1940 had they been held. Already attractive material of philatelic interest has been forwarded to me from Helen Turner (SPI 17), who in turn received it originally from Eijoro Hinoki (SPI 644) of Tokyo. In this case the item is a lovely brochure in French and English, lavishly illustrated in color, selling the advantages of Sapporo as a potential site for 1972.

No black blots on sports. The April issue of "The American Philatelist" assigned none of the infamous black blots to sports stamps.

In the April 25, 1966, issue of "Linn's Weekly Stamp News" Editor Carl P. Rueth discussed philatelic organizations, their publications, their editors, and the responsibilities of editing. He said, in part:
"They (publications of philatelic organizations) all seem to have one thing in common.

This is the plea of the editor for news and articles to fill his pages....."
"The approach for copy from members has been in various forms--threatening, humorous, cajoling, matter of fact-apparently all with equal results. Close to nothing!....."
"The spark-plugs, the executives, the administrators of businesses, churches, government, and stamp clubs should know that, when they assume such responsible positions, they are, for the most part, men alone....."
"One of the most thankless jobs in a club is that of editor of the group's publication. This takes a devoted, sacrificing individual--there are deadines to be met, printing..... to be done. This takes from man's most precious possession, his time....."
"Undoubtedly, members want and appreciate the publication, but they are quite thoughtless about giving their scribe a helping hand with news or an article on occasion. Granted that everyone is not an A+ author, considering grammar, rhetoric, composition, and spelling; an editor worth his salt is wiliing to take your written effort, if it has meat and pertinence, and work it into acceptable condition. That's what editors are for. Further, do not feel badly, if your manuscript is returned, unused--most important of all, do not be discouraged by its non-acceptance. Be like Robert Bruce's spider. Try, try again."

Amen--with one small addition. I do not reject manuscripts; but rather expect, when I have the time, to work each and every one into useful condition for inclusion in "JSP".

AUCTION DEPARTMENT

Now is the time to begin planning for our fall auction. Our editor's deadine for auction catalogue material for the September issue of our periodical is August 5 th; for the October issue it becomes September 5th. Tie that in with the problem of running a successful auction Just prior to the Christmas holidays and it is easy to see the need for action now. I had hoped to augment our usual auction material with something special from one or two outside sources, but so far none of these possibilities has developed far enough for action. As usual, then, the size and quality of our fall auction will depend upon the consignments and contributions of our members. Let me hear from you.
